ABOUT ME

Meanwhile, I was doing my degree as a Physical Education Teacher focusing on sports science, I have pursued a career as a Professional Chef for my passion and intrigue towards the world of science and gastronomy. After these years of studying and working in different areas, I felt inside myself the ambition to broaden my horizons.

In the past few months, I have already launched into the studies of programming, from the basics of HTML, including CSS, javascript, and REACT, to be able to conquer my aim as soon as possible, to become a Full Stack Developer.

I am currently looking for a new challenge as a Trainee Web Developer to start applying the acquired knowledge, develop new skills, and beyond all, continue learning in this infinite world.

With great internal motivation, I am eager to start a new project that will make me grow personally and professionally, being able to devote all my attitude and recently gained knowledge.

Last but not least, I believe that our decisions and our changes shape our new path into a new world.
